

Chairman Powell and Members of the F.C.C.

Further deregulation is not in the best interest of making certain the values that make America great are perpetuated.

Although I am not in favor of regulation as a common practice, when it comes to believing those serving the public can also operate fairly in the interest of the public I don't see them as having a good track record. Transportation - Energy - and now Communication.

The Federal Communication Commission was founded, correctly I believe, to prevent the monopolies you see emerging now from controlling the news and limiting the views.

Please stop it.

Respectfully,

Chris Collier
